

Your donation to PINC is tax-deductible.

PINC SA is a registered Non-Profit Company and a SARS-approved Public Benefit Organisation. Every qualifying donation we receive gets a Section 18A certificate, so you can claim it against your taxable income. Here is what that means and how to get yours.

It is tax-deductible

Section 18A lets you deduct qualifying donations from taxable income, up to 10% of taxable income per year. At the current 27% company tax rate, a R100,000 donation costs your business roughly R73,000 after the tax saving, while PINC receives the full R100,000.

It can lift your B-BBEE scorecard

Contributions to a registered PBO like PINC can count under the Socio-Economic Development element of your scorecard. Exact scoring depends on your sector code, so confirm the detail with your own BEE consultant, we will supply whatever documentation they need.

18A

SARS-approved PBO status

3 March 2025

Effective from

Local

Real, reportable Pinetown impact

Our reference numbers

PBO number

PBO 930084384

Income tax reference

9066143299

NPC registration

2023/147726/08

How to get your certificate

Make your donation using the banking details on our Contact page, then let us know by email so we can log it. We will issue your Section 18A certificate and email it to you, or you can download it directly once you are logged into the donor portal on pinc.org.za.